ABEL SAYS ELLIS MUST ANSWER FOR SUGAR

Hoarded 1,000 Pounds Over Allowance-Restaurant Being Made Sanitary.

County Food Administrator J. W. Abel states that he has the sugar statements on hand now from both the Ellis' restaurant and Trigg Dobbs company and that he expects to settle the matter at once. Mr. Abel declares that there is no question in his mind, but the matter at once. out that the manager of Ellis' restau-ant had stored away entirely too nuch sugar, even though some of it vas to have been sent back to the ugar. The administrator says further that the manager will therefore be held responsible for the sugar he had on

At the time the place was investi-gated, there was approximately 1,400 pounds of sugar in the building. The manager of the restaurant had several hundred pounds of lump sugar on hand which he declared he ordered rom the wholesale house and that he was to have sent the same amount of ranulated sugar back to the company After substracting the amount he should have sent back to Trigg Dobbs & Co., Mr. Abel says that he will then have considerably more than allowed by the food administration.

Under the new sugar ruling, an eat ing establishment of this kind may have a five-day supply on hand at one The Ellis restaurant, however had over a thousand pounds too much after this had been taken into con-

Mr. Abel says that he believes that the manager of this restaurant has been purchasing sugar off and on for the past five or six months and stor-ing it away and that he will be held responsible for this.

Under the close watch of the government and city inspectors the Ellis restaurant is being cleaned up from the top floor to the main entrance, and while the serious unsanitary conditions that existed when Dr. Knight and F. J. Hoge made the inspection Monday, have been corrected, there is yet much to be done to put the building general sanitary condition. Provost guards still guard the doors and will not be removed, according to Dr. Knight, until everything has been cleaned and approved by him,

NO GAS WASTING WHEN EXPERT VISITS PLANT

Gas Company Turns Surplus Says It's "Dirty Politics" and Under Own Boilers Early Solution Promised

It is thought that within the next few days the gas question, which has been creating so much interest re-cently among the manufacturers, will be settled. R. A. Field, the assistant to the director of the gas bureau of Washington, who arrived in the city Monday night, states that he feels confident that while the problem may confident that while the problem may seem a little difficult it will all work out and prove to be a very simple sointion.

The gas specialist made a visit Tuesday morning to the by-products plant and states that he found that there was not any of the surplus gas going to waste at the plant at that time. He says that they were burning the gas under the boilers at the main plant and at the chemical plant, which plant and at the chemical plant, which is situated adjacent to the Chatta-nooga Gas and Coke company. This gas is being used under the boilers by Manager S. E. DeFrese, of the Chatta-nooga Gas company, through the sug-gestion of the head of the coke de-partment of the United States fuel dministration.
Mr. Field declared that the plan

Mr. Field declared that the plan adopted by the company was much cheaper than storing the gas.

In speaking of the gas being used by the manufacturers as a substitute, the representative of the fuel administrator's office stated that it would not be an economical plan for a manufacturer to substitute a high finished grade of fuel like gas where he could use a cheaper grade of fuel. But he pointed out that if the gas company could offer the gas to the local manufacturers at practically the same price that they are having to pay for coal, coke or oil, that they must take into consideration that it would really be cheaper in the end. This, he said, was because there were many things to the cost of fuel, that could eften be done away with by the use of gas. After Mr. Field has completed his investigation the entire matter will be brought out at a conference with the manufacturers and local gas manager, at which time he feels confident that the whole situation can be solved.

LITTLE GIRL'S DREAM CAME PARTIALLY TRUE SERGT. YOUNG'S CASE

Daughter of Squire Dobbs Dreamed Constable Hendrix Had Been Killed.

The little daughter of Squire J. M. Dobbs will be from now on a firm be-liever in dreams, according to her father. Squire Dobbs stated Tuesday morning, when he went to the break-fast table, his little girl said, "Papa, I had the most horrible dream about you and Frank Hendrix and I dreamed a great big negro cut you and killed Mr. Hendrix." Squire Dobbs said his little girl did not know Constable Hendrix only from hearing her father talk about him when at home. The dream, however, came partially true and came very near being true in its entirety, for the same afternoon Constables Lawson and Hendrix had a call to Bushtown with the result that both officers came very near losing their lives and Geo. Bailey, a negro, was killed in self-defense. The negro was armed with a big army gun, which he snapped in Constable Hendrix's face. Constable Lawson, before he shot Bailey, received a bad cut on the arm. Squire Dobbs said had he been in his office he would have probably accompanied the officers and the dream

"DICK" TURNER MAKES DENIAL OF IT ALL

He Neither Bought Nor Brought Liquor.

"Dirty politics," Dick Turner charges, is back of his arrest Tuesday afternoon on a charge of transporting liquor and his subsequent trial before Commissioner S. J. McAllester, who bound him over to the grand jury under a bond of $750.

Turner, for several years a member of the police department, but now a city license inspector, let it be understood that he is for Sam Conner in the county judge's race.

He said that he did go to Cincinnati on Sunday night, July 7, to see the races, but not to bring liquor back to Chattanooga. "I haven't got any liquor," he stated, "and don't want "Dick," as he is familiarly known, said that he had an argument with a prominent politician the night he went to Cincinnati and that a government man had advised him to "stay off" of Sam Conner, He does not mince words in charging that the whole busiess is a "frame-up." Regarding his resignation from the position of license inspector, he was going to continue at the job and was sorry that either Mayor Jesse M. Littleton or Sam Conner had been brought into the matter.

According to Turner, Jack Hiel, the express messenger, who was a witness against him, volunteered his testimony, which was, that Turner purchased some liquor in Cincinnati. According to Hiel's testimony, the liquor was placed in a baggage car, brought to Chattanooga, placed on a truck at the Terminal depot and called for by an automobile. When cross-examined by W. H. Cummings, attorney for Turner, Hiel said Turner did not touch the liquor after it was purchased. "Dick" denies, however, that he bought or brought any liquor back

A warrant, taken out by Ed Finlay, agent for the department of justice, before Commissioner McAllester, was served on Turner by United States Marshal T. P. McMahon. His trial before the commissioner on the liquor transporting charge came a short time
